The Center for Shoulder, Elbow & Sports Medicine at Columbia Orthopedics is proud to announce the new Columbia Sports Medicine Fellowship for the 2018-2019 academic year. Under the direction of Dr. Christopher Ahmad, this ACGME-accredited fellowship will begin August 2018.

Operative experience for the sports medicine fellow will include advanced knee, hip, shoulder, and elbow arthroscopy in the adult and pediatric sports medicine populations. Additionally, open shoulder experience will be available. The extensive arthroscopy core curriculum will be enhanced by a state of the art arthroscopy laboratory, ensuring ongoing education and development of surgical techniques.

The fellowship will also provide extensive team coverage experience, ranging from high school sports to professional team coverage opportunities, emphasizing the development of a well-rounded team doctor.

Additionally, the sports medicine fellow will have a full day per week dedicated to academic pursuits – including participation in clinical and translational research.

Applications are now open for the 2018-2019 academic year.
