Spaulding Rehabilitation Network and Harvard Medical School are seeking faculty for appointment at the assistant or associate professorial level to support the research mission of the Network and the Harvard Medical School Department of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation. Faculty with expertise in the musculoskeletal and sports medical injury rehabilitation research area are particularly encouraged to apply. The candidates should have met the requirements for appointment at the rank of Associate Professor at Harvard Medical School. The candidates will be expected to lead a large and established set of clinical and research programs and provide oversight of teaching and training. An established record in administration; basic science, clinical and/or outcomes investigation; and mentoring residents and faculty members is required.

Spaulding Rehabilitation Network is one of the largest rehabilitation facilities in the U.S., providing comprehensive rehabilitation treatment. Our network includes 132-bed main hospital, over 60 physicians on staff, 6 specialized inpatient programs in rehabilitation, 23 outpatient centers throughout Massachusetts, and more than 200 physical, occupational, speech-language and recreational therapists. Spaulding Rehabilitation Network is a member of Partners Healthcare, an organized system of quality healthcare delivery serving individuals, families and communities in New England, and affiliated with Harvard Medical School. Spaulding Rehabilitation Hospital and Harvard Medical School are Equal Opportunity Employers. Women and underrepresented minorities are particularly encouraged to apply.
